Alberta Girls Honored

Two Alberta girls, Kathleen Busby, of Edmonton, and Prada Antrobus, of Coleman, who are both studying music at the Toronto Conservatory, have the honor of being engaged by Sir Ernest MacMillan, as soloists in a presentation of Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Nights Dream," in Massey Hall, sometime in December. They will sing with the 100-piece Toronto Symphony Orchestra and a chorus, both under the leadership of Sir Ernest MacMillan. The date is not yet known.

Freda has also been engaged as soloist in a patriotic program to be staged in Massey Hall on December 1.

Soldiers' Letters

Calgary, Alberta

Dear Archie:

Just a few words to let you know that I would much sooner you would send my Christmas parcel overseas to the boys who really need it. We never have any trouble getting smokes here and I don't think we'll ever starve in Canada. At least I won't because I've put on ten pounds already and I am still putting weight on. Every time one of the boys overseas speaks on the radio he is asking for more smokes and I would sure appreciate it if you would send them my share. We'll never be stuck for cigs here. Even when we are broke there are still lots here. Somebody always has some. I am writing this on behalf of Kane and myself.

Bill McLeod.

Equinault, B.C.

Dear Sir:

Just a short line to let you know everything is fine out here, with the exception of lots of rain. I have finally negotiated a transfer that I have been looking forward to for quite awhile—to the "Royal Canadian Corps Signals." I would appreciate it very much if I could still get the Coleman Journal. Thanking you very much.

Signalman Oscar Hirsch.

Mr. C. Molina, of Trail, returned home on Tuesday evening following a week's visit with his daughters, Mrs. A. Montalbetti and Mrs. A. Toppiano, and their husbands.

Car Crash in Which Two Met Death at Frank

Pictured here are the two cars involved in a head collision late Thursday afternoon, near Frank, in which Mr. and Mrs. Peter Parachin were killed and John Bachino Kas and Olga Nasadyk were seriously injured. The sedan on the left belonged to the Parachins, while the coupe on the right was owned and driven by John Patterson, well-known rancher of the Lundbreck area. Patterson suffered a broken leg and other injuries. Kas, who was known as John Brooks, received severe head injuries and grave concern is expressed at his condition. Miss Nasadyk, who received a broken arm and leg, is suffering from severe shock, but her recovery is expected.

A coroner's jury viewed the bodies at the weekend in order to release them for burial. The inquest was then adjourned and will reconvene when the injured parties are able to attend to give evidence.

RED CROSS DIGS FOR TRAPPED BOMB VICTIMS

By GARRY ALLICHAH
London.—The Luftwaffe staged another carnival of death in the southeast corner of this country recently.

Living midway between London and the Atlantic coast town, I was able to get into the thick of the raid, with a Canadian Red Cross ambulance without loss of time. While it lasted it was as hot as any I have been in. After the first swoop the Nazi bombers had swung off a moon-misted channel sky, leaving rescue squads to dig for dead and Red Cross to bind the wounded people made homeless.

I went with a Canadian ambulance to one of three public houses which had been wrecked. Somewhere under the mass of tangled iron girders, twisted lead pipes, broken masonry, smashed timber and hundreds of bricks and slates were landlors, bar tenders and customers. You could hear trapped people knocking inside their fearful prison. Picks, with which rescuers were tunnelling through perilous pyramid ruins, tapped back a message of hope. As the tunnel lengthened a new sound began to make itself heard from within—moans and pain. "Red Cross forward!" shouted a rescue chief. Three nurses emerged from the gloom. "We'll be through in five minutes unless that lot collapses on us," explained the chief. "You better go in first. There'll be plenty of work for you to do." In a few minutes they disappeared, one by one, headfirst through the tunnelled hole into the cellar with "trig-lift," consisting of four wide metal-handled canvas straps passing under the head, shoulders, knees and buttocks to form a cradle.

Fly Indian File

Just then Nazis returned flying Indian file across the star-lit sky power-diving down with racing engines screaming terrifically. They released salvos of high explosives while a barrage of tracer bullets pyrotechnized around. Rescuers never paused. Nurses continued to bandage the wounded homeless people and salvaged belongings from wrecked homes with fantastic stolidity as if to say, "They can't do any worse than they've done to us."

Driving in another part of the town a Canadian Red Cross ambulance in which I rode was slithered volte face by a blast from a heavy calibre bomb as it skidded on the dry pavement. When I recovered I raced to the scene of the "incident." A block of working-class dwellings, two hopelessly demolished, a dozen with bulging walls, stripped roofs, glassless windows and sagging chimneys. Rescuers carried two still forms out, removed them from stretchers and laid them beside a wall. "They're not for you, nurse," said the warden. "You can't waste time on the dead. We need these stretchers for the living." In five minutes the Red Cross was surrounded with

Sentinel Motors Now Under New Management

Announcement was made this week that E. Salvador has bought out the interest of Mr. Rudy Alexander in Sentinel Motors and is now in complete charge of the business.

Mr. Salvador is a local boy and is well known throughout the Pass. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Salvador. The same cordial relations that have existed in the past between the management and customers will be maintained.

Mr. and Mrs. Alexander and family expect to leave early next week for Lethbridge, where Mr. Alexander has secured the position of assistant manager of Imperial Oil Co. They have sold their home to Mr. and Mrs. C. Hughes.

Citizens Asked to Support Legion in Total War Effort

Door To Door Canvass to Be Made by Two Ladies to Secure Names; Every Local Organization To Be Asked to Support Petition.

A meeting sponsored by the local branch of the Canadian Legion was held in the council chamber on Sunday afternoon for the purpose of seeking support to the Legion's call for total war, as presented to Prime Minister Mackenzie King. Attending were delegates from the Legion, Rebekahs, Elks, Lions, St. John Ambulance Assoc., Miners' Union and the council. Mayor Antrobus was chairman and T. Rose, secretary.

Mayor Antrobus opened the meeting by reading an extract from Brigadier F. M. W. Harvey's address made recently at Calgary where he said: "There is too much wishful thinking—too much of magnifying any little success we may have had and minimizing the successes of the enemy. We say things are going fine when they are not going fine. We have made a magnificent job of losing this war for two years—we've taken a devil of a trimming. Let's get down to earth."

H. Turner, president of the local branch of the Canadian Legion, stated the purpose of this meeting was to back up the parent body's call for total war. He stated the Dominion body of the Legion was not satisfied that Prime Minister King was going all out in the war effort and that it was the Legion's contention that there should be full conscription of wealth, industry and manpower.

The petition as drafted at the meeting reads:
The Rt. Hon.

W. L. Mackenzie King, P.C., Prime Minister of Canada.

We, the undersigned citizens, of Coleman, Alberta, do hereby petition your government to put into force in Canada, the full conscription of wealth, industry and manpower in the prosecution of the present war.

A committee of A. McCulloch and H. Houghton was appointed to attend the next council meeting and endeavor to have the council act in support of the petition.

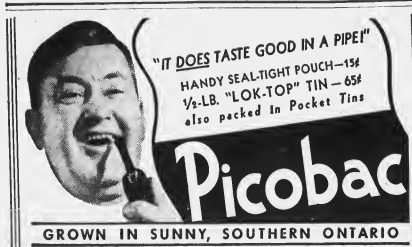

John Bell, the miners' union representative, stated that the union would support the petition and it was very probable that the union may forward a petition to Mackenzie King urging him to bring in conscription of wealth, industry and manpower.

It was the wish of the Dominion body that all organizations send letters and petitions to the prime minister making it so obvious as to the attitude of he people on the question of conscription that there would be no doubt left in the minds of the government members.

The meeting endorsed the stand taken by the Dominion headquarters of the Canadian Legion. In order to further support the Legion's effort it was decided that petitions would be taken to all citizens and organizations so that as many signatures as possible could be sent the Federal government urging conscription. H. Turner, T. Rose and A. McCulloch were chosen as a committee to interview every local organization and get the support of these organizations in having each member sign the petition.

Mrs. A. Cornett and Mrs. R. Vincent volunteered their services to call at every home in Coleman and have each citizen sign their name to the petition.

Value Of Propaganda

New weapons and new methods of combat now used in the second world war, have brought many strange expressions into common usage. "Fifth column," "Molotov bread basket," "balloon barrage," and numerous other terms, unfamiliar before the present war, now appear quite naturally in the news columns of our papers and radio press bulletins.

One important weapon, however, has an old name into which events of this war have put a new and wider meaning. That word is "propaganda," and it was introduced in its newest form by the highly publicized Dr. Goebbels.

Much has appeared in the news lately of the measures taken by the Russians in this regard. They have effectively disrupted German announcements, broadcast news of German losses in Russia, and otherwise harassed the rigidly controlled air waves of the Reich. There have been stories, too, of the brilliant "V for Victory" campaign launched by the British Broadcasting Corporation. Results of this clever piece of propaganda are recorded every day in uprising and unrest in the occupied countries. Vichy officials blame the unrest in France on this campaign, the full story of which will not be known until the people of the occupied countries have joined with the free democracies in the final destruction of Nazi-ism.

Use Other Methods

This, however, is only one way in which the B.B.C. is fighting and defeating Dr. Goebbels, just as effectively as the Royal Air Force is sweeping the Luftwaffe out of the skies. For twenty-four hours of every day the B.B.C. broadcasts authentic news and commentaries to every corner of Europe. These programs are given in all the European languages, including the dialects of isolated districts. That they are regularly heard in the occupied countries is known beyond a shadow of doubt, and this despite very rigid Nazi rulings and severe penalties for infractions of the verboten order. Through secret means, known only to the British Government, the B.B.C. has a very good estimate of the number of people who listen to these programs. Letters, too, reach Britain by devious ways, telling of the hope and courage these forbidden broadcasts bring. Countless numbers who are now in bondage, suffering from every form of persecution, are looking hopefully forward to the day of their deliverance from the Nazi yoke. It is to hear what they recognize as truth, that the oppressed peoples of Europe risk their very lives to listen to the British programs. It is beyond doubt that they must be greatly heartened to know that elsewhere in the world strong forces are working to bring about their release, and that they will see yet another "new order" in Europe based on freedom, and relief from all those who are now under Nazi domination.

For Final Victory

Particular effect is injected into programs which are broadcast to all classes of people in Germany, and that these programs are heard in the Reich is corroborated by no less an authority than the diminutive Dr. Goebbels himself, who goes on the air frequently to refute statements made in B.B.C. broadcasts.

In France it is commonly stated that there are three governments—Paris, Vichy and the B.B.C. And so, on this front as on many others, a strong and unrelenting attack is being made. When the final victory is reached, those who have carried on this unending task, will take their place with others who have taken Nazi weapons and wielding them with a deeper courage and a greater conviction than the Nazis could ever know, have brought about ultimate victory for the forces of freedom and democracy.

Story About Illinois Railroad Clerk Reads Like Fairy Tale

Richard Grady, 73, of East St. Louis, Ill., retired railroad clerk, received a $29,030 paycheck from the Illinois Central Railroad—38 years late.

Grady worked as a laborer for the railroad for fifteen days in 1903. But when he started for the payor to collect his money, high water kept him from the tracks. Four days later when he could reach the tracks the payor had been moved.

He attempted to collect from the railroad but had lost his claim ticket for the money and didn't get the check. Last summer, after he had retired, he had an attorney write the railroad. A checkup on the books showed he never was paid and the check was drawn up.

War Makes Many Changes

Dinner At Savoy Much Simpler Than In Peace Time

Noel Barber, in Overseas Daily Mail says: My mention of dinners reminds me that I did see at the Savoy one week the strangest menu they have probably ever had.

Sir Courtauld Thomson gave a lunch to the new Governor of Bermuda, Viscount Knollys. There was an imposing list of guests, whose names were printed on one side of the menu. And on the other side, the actual menu. It consisted of only three words: Macaroni, Chicken, Sweet.

That was all. A good idea, too, except perhaps to the artistic head waiter, who took one look at the small slip of paper and muttered to me: "I don't know why they don't just print 'Food'."

The point is, of course, that you get just as much food as you need, and far less indignation than you deserve—far less, anyway, than you would have got at the Savoy's old-time menus. I looked up one used for a party given about 50 years ago by the Duke of Orleans in the same room as this week's lunch.

On that menu were 18 courses and six different wines. It was considered bad manners to miss a course in those days. . . .

Could Never Be Trusted

Food Sent To Europe Would Be Taken By Nazis

Here are some facts in one day's news that bear on the proposal of Mr. Hoover to feed the people of the occupied countries of Europe—his plea for the women and children who are in dire need:

Germany has been taking from France 14,000 head of cattle a month, much of the wine so essential in a land of impure water, all the reserves of cheese, potatoes, sugar beets, wheat and fruit.

Walter Funk, Germany's economics minister (that is, director of looting), was in Rome arranging with Italy for stripping the Ukraine of foodstuffs and other supplies and dividing up the spoils.

The German army in Rumania is now taking from that country its food reserves and clothing. Wearing apparel is so scarce that the price has skyrocketed.

Still, Mr. Hoover, with laudible purpose but with no relation to reality, continues to urge his plan. He talks of "safeguards." Can he really believe any could be devised that Germany would not get around or else just trample on?

If Germany will not France of her own supplies when Hitler professes to seek the collaboration of Frenchmen, why wouldn't he loot her of our supplies?

If Hitler will take food away from Rumanians when Rumanians are fighting Germany's battles, what chance is there that he would respect signs saying that the food came from the United States, for which he has stated his contempt?

Finally, the arrangements going forward for the looting of the Ukraine show how consistently Germany pursues her policies. She is going to take what food she wants wherever it is found—Milwaukee Journal.

Articles of clothing "guaranteed" to have been worn by Hitler have been smuggled out of Germany into Switzerland and Spain. The recipients have paid handsomely for the trophies.

This traffic in a notoriety's raiment is by no means new and accounts for the fact that a fair number of Napoleonic relics survive in museums all over Europe.

For Bomber Pilots

Special Prayer Used At Graduation Exercises In Ontario School

"I wish for you chaps good hunting," Air Commodore G. E. Brooks, O.B.E., told the first class of bomber pilots graduating at No. 16 Service Flying Training School, R.C.A.F., at Hagersville, Ontario.

One of the most impressive moments of the wings parade came when Flight Lieutenant J. W. Jennings, station padre, prayed for the bomber pilots. The prayer, he said, was written by an officer of the general staff at the Hagersville school. Author of the prayer Flight Lieutenant Jennings reads was not identified. It had been composed especially for the first class and may be used at all succeeding graduations.

"Cast about these pilots, Almighty God, the sure fabric of Thy holy spirit, that they may be gentle in their strength, steadfast in defeat and humble in victory," the prayer went. "Toughen the fibres, we beseech Thee, of their individuality, to the end that, devoting themselves wholly to their duties in Thy service, they be not lonely. Comfort those whom they leave behind, bring them back more full of Thy strength when Thy time of violence has passed away and we have peace."

SELECTED RECIPES

Pies! England had them first. A flaky, thick crust, topping a delicious, nourishing one-dish meal which consisted of meat, vegetables, gravy and seasonings made up the original pie as it was served in England centuries ago. The meat or chicken pot pie of to-day is a modern version of this early entree.

The traditional apple pie was developed many years later. The famous fruit pie, and some others, long have been looked upon as "firsts" in desserts. Lemon, chocolate, custard and countless other fillings have been perfected over a period of time until to-day we find Webster defining a pie as "an article of food consisting of a pastry crust with any of various kinds of fillings."

APPLE PIE MODERNE

6 cups corn flakes.
 (1½ cups fine crumbs)
 ½ cup butter
 ¼ cup sugar

1 quart pared, sliced apples
 ½ cup sugar
 2 tablespoons cinnamon
 2 tablespoons butter

Roll corn flakes into fine crumbs. Melt butter, add sugar gradually and mix with crumbs. Reserve ¼ this mixture; press the rest evenly over bottom and sides of pie pan.

Fill pie shell with apples; sprinkle with ½ cup sugar mixed with cinnamon. Dot with 2 tablespoons butter; sprinkle remaining crumbs over top and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for ½ hour, reduce heat to 300 degrees F. and bake one hour longer, until apples are tender. Yield: One 9-inch pie.

What Plan Means

National Church In Germany Would Supplant Those Now Existing

The Christian Science Monitor published the abstract of an alleged Nazi plan for a national church to supplant existing churches in the Reich and "ambiguously" Christianity. The Monitor said that the scheme was advanced by Alfred Rosenberg, Nazi philosopher and policy-maker, but that this did not necessarily mean it would be carried out.

The Rosenberg version of N. R. (National Reichskirche) would be formed along military lines with the sword the symbol instead of the cross and "Mein Kampf" the credo instead of the Bible, the Monitor said. All other churches or religious orders would have to leave the Reich and there would be a strict ban on any religious group holding or receiving property.

There would be no priests, clergy or scribes in the new order, the Monitor's version related, and only Nazi party orators would have the right to speak in the churches, which would remain only in the architectural sense.

Sheep-Dogs On Payroll

Work Without Orders On Great Western Railway In Wales

The Great Western Railway (reports a correspondent) has 25 sheep-dogs on its pay-sheets in Wales at places where sheep often break through the fences, not only endangering their lives but delaying the trains' progress.

The dogs, working without orders, find obscure openings in fences through which to shepherd the flock back. They learn to develop "line sense"; if they are caught between trains on adjacent lines they lie down until both have passed.

If maintenance men, working on the line, do not heed the noise of an on-coming train the dogs bark at them and refuse to leave until the last workman is out of the way.—Manchester Guardian.

Hay Was Valuable

Grass In Green Park, London, Allowed To Grow Tall

Most picturesque London scene recently was haymaking in the Green Park. Nearly 40 loads were taken away in heavy carts supplied by a South London cartage firm which still keeps 40 Shire horses busy. Normally the grass in the park is mown. This year it was allowed to grow nearly three feet tall. "Of course," said one haymaker, "after cutting hay in this park one feels like setting up a lost property office."

Large Contingent Of Canadian Troops Land At Hong Kong

Hong Kong. The unexpected arrival of a large contingent of Canadian infantry troops to reinforce this strategic naval fortress was greeted jubilantly, especially among the Chinese population, as news of the landing spread through the city.

Disembarked, the contingent formed on a nearby field and, led by two military bands, including Highland bagpipers, marched with full war equipment and fixed bayonets to specially outfitted barracks, while hundreds of Chinese and Europeans gathered to watch.

The Hong Kong colony's population of nearly 2,000,000 was taken completely by surprise as the Canadians' transport, a former liner, steamed into the harbor, strongly convoyed.

The exact size of the contingent and details of its trip here were military secrets, but the commanding officer, Brig. J. K. Lawson, did disclose that the journey was "one of weeks" and that he and his men, volunteers who enlisted in Manitoba and Quebec, "have been overseas once before in this war."

"We are ready for anything that might occur," he said.

Maj.-Gen. C. M. Althby, Hong Kong commander-in-chief, was first to board the vessel. Later Governor Sir Mark Young inspected the new arrivals.

"We never sighted an enemy vessel," the navy looked to that," Brig. Lawson said.

He reported the unit was made up largely of infantry, but "we have other things as well."

Hong Kong, second only to the naval base at Singapore as a British stronghold in the Far East, lies on China's south coast on the northern shore of the China sea, 750 miles northwest of Manila, and would be of highly strategic value to the American as well as the British fleet in the event of a Pacific war.

Somewhere in England.—News of the arrival of a Canadian force at Hong Kong was received with wide interest by the Canadian Corps when the announcement was made briefly over the B.E.C.

The secret had been well kept and only a few senior officers knew of Canada's intention to aid the empire with troops in the Orient where Canadians have never served before.

Summing up the average view of the troops was the remark of a young private who said:

"That's a big break for them but here's hoping they don't get into action ahead of us."

Churchill's Suggestion

Critics Of The Government Might Adopt Ancient Chinese Custom

London.—Prime Minister Churchill lightly suggested in his House of Commons speech that one of the customs of ancient China would be of help in evaluating some of the criticism on his conduct of the war.

"There was a custom in ancient China that anyone who wished to criticize the government could memorialize the emperor, and, providing he followed it up by committing suicide, very great respect was paid to his word and no ulterior motive was assigned."

Heavy Losses Being Inflicted By Navy On Axis Supply Lines

London.—Aviation circles predicted the heavy losses being inflicted by the British navy on Axis supply lines in the central Mediterranean would soon compel Germany to divert strong air forces from the Russian front to bases in Crete and Greece.

With British land forces in North Africa growing ever stronger, these sources said, it is imperative the Axis powers maintain sea communications with North Africa to meet a possible offensive to drive them out of Libya.

The Italian merchant marine, dismayed by heavy blows dealt its Mediterranean convoys by the British navy and air force, is stepping aside and letting German seamen take over many of its ships. British sources said. The swastika now is flying from many sailing ships and other convoyed vessels in the Mediterranean.

Nevertheless the Axis, in its effort

Publisher Speaks Out

Ingersoll Asks When United States Will Get Into War

New York.—Publisher Ralph Ingersoll, recently returned from a world trip during which he visited almost every war front, told in a front page editorial in his newspaper, PM, how it feels to be an American travelling around the world.

"It feels cheap," he wrote. "It makes you feel mean. You can never stop being embarrassed just because you are an American."

Noting that the Chinese "have fought our battle for four years," British for two years and Russia now, Ingersoll said that the American reaction "has been to express a willingness—to lease and to lend."

"I think those two words lease and lend are the meanest words I have ever heard," he added. "... I am ashamed of them."

The publisher said that to him only one question seems important now: "When are we going to get into this war?"

1941 Wheat Crop

Reduction Of 248,764,000 Bushels Over Previous Year

Ottawa.—Canada's 1941 wheat crop was estimated by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics at 302,626,000 bushels compared with 551,390,000 in 1940. The figure was contained in the bureau's second seasonal estimate and represented a decrease of 3,833,000 bushels from the first estimate issued in September.

"Lower production this year is the result of reductions both in the acreage seeded to wheat and in yield per acre," the bureau said. "The only important change in the 1941 second estimate as compared with the first is a reduction of 4,000,000 bushels in Alberta."

The bureau estimated Alberta's wheat crop at 90,000,000 bushels and said the Saskatchewan and Manitoba estimates remained unchanged at 136,000,000 and 56,000,000 bushels.

For Service In Russia

Hurricane Fighter Planes Are Expected To Be Satisfactory

London.—Hundreds of Britain's Hurricane fighting planes are being assembled in Russia for service at the front the air ministry news service announced.

It added that R.A.F. personnel there was instructing Russian pilots. The first Russian to fly one of the Hurricanes in the war zone was a 40-year-old major commanding the northern Red fleet air arm, the news service said.

The belief was expressed the planes would operate satisfactorily on snow-covered fields if runways were rolled regularly. In that case the planes would not need to be fitted with runners.

Earthquake In Turkey

Istanbul.—Fifteen persons were killed, nearly 100 injured and heavy property damage done by an earthquake which shook the Ercizian district in eastern Turkey.

Heavy Losses Being Inflicted By Navy On Axis Supply Lines

to supply its Libyan forces, is going through one of its blackest months. Already November sinkings are put at 22 ships, including three Italian destroyers, and British officers say thousands of Axis soldiers and seamen and millions of dollars worth of war supplies have gone down. Nine ships are listed as severely damaged this month.

Since August, British surface ships, submarines and planes have sunk 108 Axis ships in the Mediterranean and heavily damaged 70 more, according to the British tally.

The Mediterranean fleet now is centering its attention on a program of smashing every convoy which leaves an Italian port. The Axis African corps under Maj.-Gen. Ewin Rommel is said to be drawing on its reserve supplies, with its prospects of receiving effective reinforcements and new equipment diminishing daily.

Fights On

Gunboat Ladybird Still Pumps Steel Into Dive Bombers

Alexandria, Egypt.—When the history of the British navy in this war is written, the saga of His Majesty's gunboat Ladybird—"the ship they couldn't sink"—will be among the highlights. For the Ladybird, although officially sunk, still pumps steel at dive bombers raiding Tobruk.

The Nazis set her afire with two bomb hits last May 11. Her stern settled in the shallow water of Tobruk harbor. But the bow, with a four-inch gun, failed to sink.

That weapon is manned constantly by three gunners, and roars every time Nazis sweep over the harbor.

After the Ladybird went down while her gunners stuck to their posts until forced away by flames, Admiral Sir Andrew Cunningham in a message to her husky, devil-may-care, 40-year-old skipper, Lt.-Cmdr. John Blackburn, said the action was "worthy of the highest ideals and traditions of the navy and an inspiration for all who fight upon the seas."

Not From Canada

Marshal Petain Unable To Get Annuity As Reported

Ottawa.—Officials of the state department said that Canadian funds are not permitted to enter occupied or unoccupied France.

The officials were commenting on a London report that Marshal Petain, French chief of state, has received an annuity of $2,670 regularly from England, having been permitted to transfer to France an annuity taken out with a Canadian company in 1927.

TRADE ADMINISTRATOR

Edgar Gordon Burton, 35, Toronto, general manager of the Robert Simpson Co., has been appointed retail trade administrator of the federal government's comprehensive price control program. Appointment of Mr. Burton to the most important post under the new price regulation policy was announced by the wartime prices and trade board. He will serve without remuneration.

Liked Churchill's Speech

Russian Paper Says It Was Permeated With A Will For Victory

London.—The Russian newspaper Izvestia described Prime Minister Churchill's House of Commons address as a speech "permeated with a will for victory" and said it deserves "the serious attention of the world public."

"It sounds the death knell of Hitler's peace offensive," the paper said in an article quoted by the British Broadcasting Corporation.

AIR ACE HOME BETWEEN JOBS

Air Commodore Raymond Collishaw, Canada's second-ranking air ace of the great war, and one of this war's outstanding aerial strategists, is back in the Dominion en route to a new job. Collishaw, a native of Nanaimo, B.C., had 80 enemy planes to his credit. He remained with the R.A.F. to become one of its leading experts. His technique for blasting enemy planes on their fields in Africa while in command of the Egyptian group, R.A.F., a post he has just left, was given much credit for the successful British sweep through Libya nearly a year ago.

Britain's Commando Troops Have Been Used On Many Raids

New Conservative Leader

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen Accepts Mantle Of Leadership

Ottawa.—Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen accepted the leadership of the Conservative party and declared for "compulsory selective service over the whole field of war."

Senator Meighen issued a statement announcing his acceptance from his rooms in the senate after a final meeting with Hon. R. B. Hanson, present acting house leader, and members of the committee of three delegated to invite him to assume the leadership at the national Conservative conference here.

The new leader came out for the formation of a non-party government and declared the continuance of party control could not be justified if a ministry on a wider basis could be formed.

He charged despotic powers granted by parliament were being abused by the present Liberal government and such a government could not exercise such powers fairly.

The new Conservative leader's statement came just a few hours after Prime Minister Mackenzie King re-affirmed his statement that he would not introduce conscription for overseas service without consultation with the people.

Mr. Meighen's statement did not mention conscription for overseas service but it was critical of present methods of obtaining men and said total war was impossible with the present organization.

Cannot Corner Supply

Shortage Of Canadian Cheese Brings Action From Ottawa

Ottawa.—Because there is a shortage of cheese available for domestic consumption in Canada the dairy products board took steps to prevent any person from cornering the supply.

Under an order announced by J. F. Singleton, chairman of the board, no person without special authorization of the board will be permitted to hold cheese on Dec. 1 in excess of 35 per cent of the amount he held on Dec. 1 last year.

Friendly To Allies

Melbourne.—Four hundred refugee-internees who were brought to Australia last year have been released from internment camps in Victoria and New South Wales and now are en route to England, it was announced. All are of Austrian-German nationality and it has been established after a careful inquiry by the British and Australian governments they are friendly to the Allied cause.

U. S. Naval Activity To Follow Revision Of Neutrality Act

Washington.—A general and rapid expansion of United States naval and military activity along the sea and air routes to Britain is expected in authoritative quarters to follow the revision of the Neutrality Act.

With the navy all set to start placing guns and gun crews on merchant ships as soon as President Roosevelt gives the signal, and with the Maritime commission ready to extend its routes of commercial operations for the first time since the war began, Secretary Frank Knox strongly indicated the scope of enlarged operations.

Declaring the action of the house of representatives holds out "greatly increased promises of ultimate victory," Knox said that it means the United States itself can now determine how its merchant ships can best be used to get war supplies to any part of the world "where they can be usefully employed" against the Axis powers.

In other quarters, probable steps in the expansion of operations were said to include:

1. Extension of naval and air patrols and convoy escorts the rest of the way across the Atlantic to the British Isles. These American protective measures now operate only to the waters adjacent to Iceland.

2. Establishment of American bases on the British Isles or joint United States-British use, as necessary, of the bases already there.

London.—The ministry of information announced that the newly-formed "Commandos"—Britain's toughest shock troops—already have been used "on occasions," including one raid on Bardia last April.

It said the Commandos, trained for sabotage and raiding, are "still rather a mystery force and the work they do is the sort, which, insofar as it is deceptive, cannot be revealed so long as telling it might give information to the enemy."

The Bardia night raid achieved its purposes of making Axis troops believe a full-scale British attack was being launched from the beaches and of causing destruction of Axis stores, the ministry said.

The Commandos went ashore from landing boats which were described as "shallow-bottomed craft with armored sides rising above the heads of the men who sat in three lines, 30 to a boat. At the bows were ramps which let down and enabled three lines to move out together so that all could get ashore quickly."

The troops reached the town without being detected and blew up a road bridge. When their work was finished a coast defence battery on top of an escarpment "had been blown sky high" and a great dump of new rubber tires brought across the desert for refitting supply lorries was "burning merrily," according to the ministry.

Two Axis motorcycle scouts escaped the attack, which the ministry described as "lucky," since their report that a large scale landing was in progress caused the hurried despatch of tanks and armored cars and lightened Axis pressure on the British front line.

The Commandos, whose activities have been a carefully-guarded military secret, are commanded by "young men fit, experienced and qualified at least" and are permitted to select their own officers who in turn are allowed to select men from volunteers.

Women Letter Sorters

May Soon Be Used In All Large Canadian Centres

Ottawa.—An experiment at present confined to Toronto and Montreal—use of women and girls as letter sorters—may be extended to other large Canadian centres, post office department authorities said.

Unable to employ men of military age, under government rules, authorities said they were hiring boys, older men and women for training to handle the Christmas rush of mail. Women have been employed as sorters in some smaller post offices for some time.

U. S. Naval Activity To Follow Revision Of Neutrality Act

Other steps, it was said, might include:

1. Operation of American convoys through Gibraltar to Britain's Mediterranean ports, thereby cutting the time of deliveries for Egypt which now are routed around Africa to Red sea ports.

2. United States army delivery of bombers across the Atlantic to Britain. This would be merely an extension (which some air officers have long expected and which others describe as unnecessary) of the army's present inland ferry command that now flies planes from factories to Atlantic coast departure points.

Three major types of guns are expected to be used in arming American merchant ships.

Navy Secretary Knox has said that, depending on their size, some ships will be given five-inch guns, others four-inch, and still others three-inchers.

Some of the five-inch guns will be dual-purpose, for both surface and anti-aircraft firing. The ships also will be equipped with machine guns, effective against low-flying planes. Manning these weapons will be crew of 10 to 16 men under command of a petty officer.

That, generally, is the way it was done in 1917-18 also, but the problem of defence to-day is expected to be somewhat different and may produce improvements as experience brings results on which to base them.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Join the Army Now

We admire the young man who joins the infantry or the artillery, because his job is equally as important as in other branches of the fighting services. It is likely that before this war is over the vital importance and necessity of infantry and artillery in motorized divisions will be realized to a far greater extent than at present. The air force so far has been the real striking force, apart from the sad experience of the British when their land divisions were forced to retreat through Dunkirk owing to overwhelming superiority of motorized equipment used by the Germans.

So many men have applied to join the air force that it has become difficult to secure recruits for the army. Many of these air force recruits were just as suitable for the army as for the air force, for the training of a soldier and opportunities to learn a trade are just as attractive as in the air force. Many men at present in ground crews or waiting to be called might well be in army units, where they would give equally as good, or perhaps better service.

With the prospect of more men being called and the possibility of Conscription being put into effect, they will not have the choice of joining the unit they may specify. Men will be allotted to those branches of the services where most needed, and all will be on an even basis.

Independents to Hold Convention

Edmonton will be the meeting place on Saturday for delegates from the provincial constituencies to discuss the appointment of a leader and the organization of supporters throughout the province. At the 1940 provincial election the Independents gained considerable strength, and had it not been for the political parties in some constituencies refusing to unite to oppose Social Credit, they would have carried the day.

But it seems that there are die-hards who see no good in their political opponents, and Tories or Liberals they will die, to the last man. The Social Credit government has failed miserably to carry out its policies and by the ordinary rules of the game, any political party which failed to implement such glowing promises would be thrown out. But on its second appeal to the people, there were still sufficient hopefuls who thought dividends might yet be paid, so back into office went Mr. Aberhart and many of his followers, though with diminished ranks.

Treasury Branches Fifth Wheel in Banking

The financiers and "big shots" are still targets for abuse and in a recent report of a Social Credit member he stated that international financiers were responsible for the war. It is so easy to make statements of a general nature which mean very little, and which have no substantiation in fact. Slamming the "big shots" will always appeal to a certain type who accept glib phrases without any thought as to their accuracy. There is so much hypocrisy in Social Credit propaganda.

Take for instance the bonus which purchasers of Alberta goods are supposed to receive. One instance of how people might be deceived is demonstrated by the following incident: A man reported he asked for overalls made in Alberta, and on questioning the price, was informed he could be supplied with similar goods manufactured in eastern Canada at a much lower price. What is the use of a bonus in this particular instance, if you have to pay more? It would be well for people generally to search more fully into facts and figure themselves than to accept glib slogans which are used to boost a political party. The Treasury branches are costing this province plenty, and the bonus paid on Alberta made goods is another expense added to the taxes.

The Functions of a Board of Trade

Experience has proved the usefulness of boards of trade in cities and towns. The councils elected to carry on municipal government follow their duties along prescribed lines. A board of trade, though it is not an elective body of the ratepayers, is a voluntary organization which can mean much to a place. Working in collaboration with a council, it can render effective service in community affairs. This is proved beyond doubt simply by reviewing the records of those places which have energetic boards of trade. One of the difficulties in many places is that citizens will not bestir themselves to take an interest in local affairs and feel that as long as they pay their taxes they are doing their duty, and that is all that is required.

This attitude will never build a town into a bigger and better place in which to live. On the other hand, a group of men with progressive ideas and the will to put them into effect can make a town stand out as a bright spot, which will attract others. Business men, storekeepers, everyone who conducts any kind of a business, should be a willing supporter of a board of trade. It is the business people who must be the leaders in order to build a town and make it a centre of real community activity.

Snow in Moscow

(The Canadian Bowmanville Statesman)

"Snow fell in Moscow last night." That is what the headlines said. And it was said in a way to cause people to believe that this fresh "ally" of the "Democracies" would halt, entangle, and confuse the thundering herd converging upon the Russian capital. Snow isn't going to halt Hitler; it will take more than that, and it's about time the headline hunters took a realistic tack. Here in Canada we have fought a war of headlines. Even the sedate among the dailies have succumbed to "screamer" headlines which seldom tell the truth. Headlines are the product of addicts whose job is to sell newspapers, not to tell the truth about the war.

And it is about time to check back and add up just about what we have done in the past two years and where we stand today. The picture is worthy of study because it will bring a sobering element into the complacency of the day and ought to strengthen our resolution. Let us speak as members of the Commonwealth. We have been beaten all along the line; driven from Norway and twice out of France. We have been jolted back on our heels in Libya, whipped out of Greece and hustled out of Crete. Even on the Atlantic, The Hun with no navy, has forced us to cry "help." We have won frontiers in Ethiopia, Syria, Iran, against little resistance. Everywhere we have opposed the Hitler tribe in battle we have been defeated. We were late to sink the Bismarck.

Headlines tell us that we bombed the Scharnhorst and Gneisenau till they were shapeless hulks, but only yesterday they were seen at sea along the Norwegian coast. We have overwhelmed the German navy, small and meagre as compared with ours, and yet they seem to have a navy. Russian headlines shout that German bodies lie piled in dead heaps but still the Hun presses on, four million against fourteen million. If we are to believe headlines, then half the Huns have been slain and we ought to invade the continent. But we are not yet invading. We are taking sage advice and growing strong enough to do so. Meantime we should discount all this "pop" and get it into our heads that we have a long, hard, bloody, road to travel before we can beat the Prussian Horde. Distorted news leads to complacency, and we are surfeited with that. Let us have truth in all its stark reality.

FLOOR PIPES OR RANGE?

Experiments are now going on, one reads, with heating pipes laid in or under floors. There are those who say that the homes of tomorrow will have plastic floors and the heating pipes laid in the plastic. This is very probably true. Practical scientists declare that one of the great developments in the decades immediately ahead will be a new type house, and that one of the magic materials for the homes of tomorrow will be a special type plastic.

While enthusiastically favoring measures which promote the happiness and comfort of mankind, we would like to say a word for the kitchen stove of another day. We like to recall the crackling cheerful fire, the merrily singing teakettle, the shining immaculateness of the black iron, and the mirror-brightness of the trimmings.

Greensboro (Ga.) Herald-Journal: Ho, hum! One half of the women want the latest kind of furniture and the other half don't want it unless it's an antique.

All 16-Year-Olds Required to Register

Satisfaction has been expressed by Hon. J. T. Thorson, Minister of National War Services, at the manner in which the youth of Canada is responding to the regulation calling for all persons to fill out National Registration forms upon reaching the age of sixteen.

According to the Bureau of Statistics, 222,000 persons in Canada reached the age of sixteen during the past year. Of this number, approximately 112,000 were males and 110,000 females.

The registration of all persons in Canada upon reaching the age of sixteen is compulsory and penalties are provided for those who do not observe the regulation. Forms are available at post offices throughout the Dominion and post masters have been instructed to explain them to those who wish to register. Separate forms have been provided for those who lose their cards, and it should be made clear to the post-master which type is desired.

Curling Notes

Skips are taking a long time to send in their completed rinks to the secretary. A general meeting will be held when thirteen complete rinks have been received.

Local curlers learned with regret the death of R. O. Allison, well known and esteemed citizen of Pincher Creek. Deceased had attended many a Pass bonspiel and his name was always to be found among the top notch rinks. He was a grand sportsman.

Saw in the Fernie Free Press where Charlie Edgar had been appointed to a commission with the R.C.A.F. and will leave Fernie shortly.

The editor of the Fernie Free Press in a recent visit to Vancouver found Milt Kastner in perfect health and getting along fairly well in business. Milt is well known in Pass curling circles, the Kastner-Herchmer combination being very hard to beat.

Some of our green curlers are getting a little impatient at the slowness of our veterans in getting rinks completed and so getting down to business.

Peter Smith is to be congratulated. Pete went out and lined up three new members and will skip the rink himself.

Skips having completed rinks include A. Dow, W. Hoggan, E. Ledieu, W. L. Rippon, W. Antla, J. Kerr, H. Claes and P. Smith.

The Polish society thanks all who donated to the Tombola draw and helped in any way to make the bazaar the success it was. Twenty-five per cent of the proceeds will be donated to the local Red Cross.

HARVEY MURPHY PLACED UNDER ARREST, INTERNED

Harvey Murphy, 37, well known in Lethbridge and Crows Nest Pass workers' circles and a Communist leader in the province for some time, was arrested by the R.C.M.P. in Toronto recently. He was taken to police headquarters and later transferred to an internment camp. Murphy was arrested on a warrant issued by the minister of justice. He made no statement when officers stepped up to him, dispatches state. Police stated Murphy was president of the Ontario Federation of Unemployed until 1938 and until his arrest was district organizer of the Communist party for Hamilton. He was born in Kitchener—Blairmore Enterprise.

Red Cross Special

By GARRY ALLIGHAN

Newcastle-on-Tyne, Nov. 4.—Crippled, blinded and scarred, more than 100 persons of all ages left hospital yesterday to run the race of life heavily handicapped. A similar number leaves today and tomorrow; the daily average of bomb victims discharged from treatment centres. As they exit through one gate Canadian Red Cross ambulances enter at another, carrying fresh Hitler victims to take their places. During the past six months 13,182 civilians, seriously injured by Nazi bombers, were detained in hospital—fewer than the number the same bombers killed. Although there have been fewer large-scale blitzes in the past half year, there have been more than 5,000 victims in excess of the same period last year, when the blitz season was at its height.

250,000 Victims

Those are the statistics of tragedy. Translated by the Red Cross into a challenge to the merciful heart of the Canadian public they become statistics of action. Double the 13,182 seriously injured civilians to find the number not seriously enough injured to be detained in hospital, who have been given first aid by Red Cross nurses and doctors on the spot. To that 40,000 add four times as many whose homes have been demolished or damaged, who have turned to the Canadian Red Cross for temporary aid in the shape of food, clothing and bedding to bridge the distressful period between disaster and deliverance. To that 200,000 add children made orphans, and women widowed, and you have a grim total of a quarter of a million bomb victims with hands outstretched to Canada's hearts with greater appeals as Christmas approaches.

Injuries Permanent

"Last night no Nazi bombs fell in this country," is the occasional official report. If this were the report every morning until the war ends this country would still have tens of thousands of Nazi victims. Few of the victims aided by the Canadian Red Cross have escaped altogether the after effects of Hitler's atrocities.

I found one yesterday, when I followed a shining thread of song as it wound through the brittle autumn air. It was a very tenuous trill, so thin I thought it would break before I had traced it.

Following the melody I came to the front door of a large house in Surrey where bombed children were being nursed back to health.

Orphan Without Home

That is how I found Ruth, a little, curly-haired orphan of last year's blitz, aged three. During a fierce bombing the Red Cross nurses, patrolling the streets glittering with broken glass, found the little girl sitting on the curb crying. To every question she shook her head—Who was she? Where did she live? Where were her parents? The Canadian Red Cross ambulance took her to the London county council rest centre and a search for her parents was made, without success.

"We will call her Ruth after you," an official said to the nurse, who found the child, "and Maple because of Canada."

Home is Found

And so the child without a name became Ruth Maple, and the day she was found was entered by the Red Cross as her official birthday. Thus began an entirely new life.

Completely outfitted with clothes, she was sent by the Canadian Red Cross to a rest home which the generous people of Canada had made possible. The child had everything—except a mother and father. A few days ago a well-to-do man and his wife, who were childless, adopted her. Her new ration book and identity card were made out in her new name. Today the curly-haired little girl starts life a third time. Now she has all she wants to make her happy. That is why I heard the flute-like singing coming through the trees.

SALES RESISTANCE

Somehow a friendly, capacious above was part of the family life. On it corn was popped when weather was cold and the winds howled down from northern tundras; pans of fudge, sugared apples, and a pot of cocoa made a fitting climax to a family evening, after lessons were done, the weekly paper read, and mother had finished her mending. There's no romance in heating pipes in the floor. However, come to think of it there were times in the winter when that bedroom under the eaves was very very cold! Yes, on the whole, let the plastic age come.

Large Salmon Pack

This Year's Pack The Second Largest On Record

Canada's 1941 canned salmon pack is so large that not only will the Dominion be able to supply more than estimated United Kingdom requirements but "fears of a serious shortage on the domestic market have also been dissipated." It was shown in a prepared statement issued by Fisheries Minister Michael.

The minister's statement said Canada would be able to supply the United Kingdom about 200,000 more than the original 1,100,000 cases estimated under an agreement with the British government.

"At the same time the stocks available for other requirements will be large enough to prevent any acute shortage in supplies within Canada and to take care of export orders from certain countries such as Australia and South Africa," said the statement.

The pack in British Columbia, chief Canadian source of canned salmon, already exceeds 2,000,000 cases, second largest pack on record. In 1930 an all-time high of about 2,222,000 cases was recorded.

Mr. Michael's statement said that the output of canned sockeye exceeded expectations and is one of the largest in years. The pack of coho will set a new high mark, exceeding the largest previous production by more than 30 per cent. The pack of Chums will be well above average, more than offsetting some reduction in the pack of pinks, fourth of the salmon species most used in canning.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

NOVEMBER 23

PRAYER AND THANKSGIVING

Golden text: Pray without ceasing; in everything give thanks. I Thessalonians 5:17, 18.

Lesson: Psalms 103, 107; Matthew 6:5-15; John 17:1-26; Ephesians 5:18-21; Philippians 4:6; I Thessalonians 5:16-18; I John 5:14, 15.

Devotional reading: Psalm 107:23-31.

Explanations and Comments

False and True Prayer, Matthew 6:5-8. Jesus bids his disciples be different from the hypocrites who desiring to attain the appearance of righteousness rather than righteousness itself, stood in conspicuous places to be seen by others. They, the hypocrites, had received their reward, that is, they had been seen by others and this was what they desired, they had no claim whatsoever to any further reward. When you pray shut out the world and shut yourself in with God, and your Father will reward you. Recall the parable which we studied in our first quarter that illustrates false and true prayer.

"Good would it be for men if, remembering that life is something more than toil and struggle, they would snatch an hour from their labors, and see in the stillness of their souls that voice which only the humble can hear, that strength which only the meek can obtain." (James Drummond). It is not the meek speaking, but the throne of God. Your father knoweth what things ye have need of, before ye ask him. We do not pray for the sake of telling God our needs; we pray that we may open our hearts to God, may have a real sense of communion with him as his children, and may receive from him the inspiration and aspiration which he gives to those who pray aright.

Prayer Should Include Thanksgiving, Ephesians 5:20; I Thessalonians 5:16-18. Rejoice always. "A joyous temper is closely connected with thankfulness which not only flows forth from every obvious blessing, but in everything finds traces of the love of God; and it is nurtured by prayer" (Drummond). Pray without ceasing. Prayer may be uttered by the lips or expressed by the life. "Ye are dependent on God for every good; feel that dependence at all times, and ye will always be in the spirit of prayer, and as frequently as possible be found in the exercise of prayer" (Charles).

In everything give thanks. "It is not to give thanks for everything, but to give thanks in everything." (George Matheson).

When the Aztec Indians first saw Cortez and his mounted men, they believed them to be strange twin beings, for the red men never had seen horses.

The Time And Place

Must Be Exactly Right Before Britain Strikes At Europe

Have we got a design for victory? That is the question which is frequently popped. To which the Express replies: And if we had, would we tell our enemy? What is expected of us? It is expected that Mr. Winston Churchill will walk from Downing Street to Trafalgar Square, mount the Nelson Column and from that lofty eminence harangue Hitler in such words as: "We are going to invade you here and there. We are going to beat and bust you by this means and that means. Get all your strength together because we are going to attack you at this point or at that." Did you ever hear such lunacy? Of course we have a design for victory. Thoughtful men see its shape. As a nation no doubt we have to hide our time. When we strike it must be on the right front and at the right moment. We will strike with finality and we must be patient and await that stroke while we build up our strength in field and factory, in ship and in shipyard. London Daily Express.

Doctor Gives His Reason For Increase In Heart Ailments

One of the reasons heart disease is increasing in the United States is that people are living longer, says Dr. Paul Dudley White, president of the American Heart Association. Addressing a symposium at Los Angeles he said the life span had increased 18 years since 1900. Hence when persons died in their 20s or 30s of diseases now under control they don't live long enough to develop heart ailments.

Health LEAGUE of CANADA presents TOPICS of VITAL INTEREST

HEALTH EDUCATION

Public ignorance and apathy in health education and sickness prevention must be overcome if the people of Great Britain and Canada are to become healthy enough to achieve victory over Hitler, Sir Wilson Jameson, chief medical officer of the Ministry of Health for Great Britain, told a meeting held by the Health League of Canada in Toronto recently.

While drastic measures in sickness prevention have prevented serious epidemics in Great Britain, he said, malnutrition is still a terrifying possibility. He said that "proper nutrition will win this war." As a result of his Canadian visit he had learned of a diet fed to expectant mothers which reduced the infant mortality rate. Sir Wilson said he intends to put this diet into immediate use in Great Britain on his return.

War had shaken the people of Great Britain out of their apathy to some extent, and new and untried methods of health preservation had had fine results, Sir Wilson said. A widespread campaign for the use of iodine to prevent diphtheria had had encouraging results.

Typhoid, which was expected to be a frightful menace, has not raised its ugly head at all. Every big main in London's 8,000 mile water system has been broken at some time or other since war started, but cholera, immediately poured into the water, prevented epidemics. There have been occasional flurries of paratyphoid, milder than its big brother, but this was traced to unclean bakeries.

The only two diseases to show any marked increase have been tuberculosis, especially among young women, and industrial poisoning. There has not, in spite of the horrors from the sky, been any big jump in insanity or milder types of mental ailment. British minds can take it, as well as British bodies.

Sir Wilson says that the biggest immediate worry is food, which is definitely short. The two most needed foods are meat and cheese. These are especially wanted for workers in heavy industry.

New Use For Plastic

Britain Trying It For White Line On Roads

Eight 10-mile sections of a new plastic white line have been grafted on to British roads to ease the difficulties of night driving. These permanent white lines are applied to surfaces just like grafting a new skin.

"Wear and tear and weather play havoc with painted lines, and some night lorry drivers complain about the virtual disappearance of what they regard as their main guidance," said a ministry of transport official.

"The new plastic lines are for experimental purposes, and until the new material has been proved, paint will continue to be used."

Very Important Job

Man And His Sheep Protect Munitions Plant In Australia

A shepherd, with a farmer's walk, wide hat and leggings, follows his calling at a group of munitions factories on the outskirts of Melbourne. With his dog and his flock of sheep, he is an incongruous figure among buildings from which comes the unceasing roar of machinery grinding out the implements of death.

He and his sheep are important in the safe working of the place. Their purpose is simple—to keep down the grass.

Spaces separating buildings scattered for safety over hundreds of acres must be well grassed, for dust and grit blown into danger buildings might cause friction in a machine, explosion of a charge, death to a man or many men. And long dry grass in summer might mean a grass fire, and obvious, terrible peril.

So while danger bells ring warning that no man may go near buildings in which machines, controlled from a distance, kill potent agents of death, the sheep graze unperturbed.

Except in so far as they may bring greater loss to the enemy and victory in a cause worth more than money, the factory's war products must be written off the nation's accounts as dead loss the instant they explode; but the peaceful sheep make profits.

People Of Liverpool Have Splendid Chance When They Rebuild

"We have been given the chance once, and once only, of building up a beautiful city that shall be the joy of the whole world and worthy of the courageous people who have stood their ground during the raids without flinching," said the Lord Mayor (Alderman Sir Sydney Jones), addressing the Liverpool Luncheon Club.

Liverpool, unfortunately, was built mainly in the nineteenth century, and there was not much of it that we could look upon with any pride, said Sir Sydney. Visitors from other countries spoke in glowing terms of the citizens and their institutions, but generally added that the city itself was grim and perhaps it was.

The damage we had suffered now gave us the opportunity of amending the failures of the past—Liverpool Post.

Symbols Of Victory

Cargo Ships For Britain Have Names Beginning With V

The names so far given to cargo ships under construction at Richmond, California, for the British indicate a carryover of the new somewhat muted "V" campaign. The five ships already launched are the Ocean Vanguard, Ocean Vigil, Ocean Venture, Ocean Victory and Ocean Viking. Sixty ships in all are to be built at the Richmond yard and at a second yard in South Portland, Maine, for the account of the British Purchasing Commission. The "V" section of the dictionary is not thick, but it will suffice to provide good names for at least sixty vessels. Virtue and valor and victory and vim and vigor are still in reserve, to mention but a few variants of a vast and valuable variety.—New York Sun.

DAUGHTER OF DESTINY

—BY—

Eleanor Atterbury Colton

CHAPTER XXXIII

Just what her strange destiny might have held in store for her if Vara hadn't stepped back into her life again, Devona could never imagine. Perhaps because Vara Vadne was part of that destiny inextricably. Perhaps because it was all written in the stars for an old Indian folk to foresee—at any rate, Vara laid strong hands on the pattern threads of her daughter's life.

The message came just before dinner, Devona and Dale had spent a heart-breaking day being gay together. Gay over the delicious luncheon that neither of them tasted. Gay over shopping while Devona bought luggage and clothes for her coming wedding trip with Tal that they both tried to ignore for the moment. Gay over cocktails that only threatened to break down the reserve they were trying to build between them. Trying so hard to make love behave as friendship, passion as affection.

It wasn't working very well yet, Devona realized, catching sight of her flushed, happy face once in a back-bar mirror. But in time it could. They'd make it work! For Tal's sake they had to.

Wary, nearly spent with the force of buffering emotions, they had returned to the old Brasher house late that afternoon to find Tal pacing the living room frantically.

"I thought you'd never show up," he said, his eyes wild with worry. "Vara's collapsed. She's dying!"

"Vara!" Devona repeated, shocked. "Yes, and she's been calling for you. Both of you. We've got to hurry."

"Mother!" Unconsciously, Devona revealed the tie that bound her to that woman who already had brought so much sorrow into her daughter's life. After all, Vara was—mother. Dad would have wanted—

Dale drove them to the hospital with magnificent indifference to traffic regulations.

"Daughter!" a kind-faced nurse asked. "Yes. She's been asking for you. Go in."

The room was small, darkened. For a moment, Devona could scarcely see the slim form in the bed. Then it moved, raised a hand in faint gesture of welcome.

"Come in," Vara's voice but so changed. "I want you."

That effort had proved too great a drain on Vara's slim reserve and though Devona went to her side instantly, Vara had already fainted away. Frightened, Devona rang for the nurse.

"She's still too weak. You'll have to wait," the nurse said, crisp starched skirts rustling over old parchment.

And that waiting seemed endless. What message could Vara have that was so important, so great a weight on her mind that even in her weakness, her delirium, she clamored for a chance to tell it.

Dale and Tal both paced the long hospital corridor with her. Every time Vara's door opened they all three started, anxiously. Strange, Devona thought wryly, how each of them was bound to that slim, inert form lying there in that darkened room. Each in a different way. But bound, nevertheless.

"You needn't stay, Dale," Devona suggested after the first fruitless hour. "I hate taking so much of your precious time and—"

"Skip it," he muttered.

But in the end, they all had to go. The doctor, shaking his head anxiously, said Vara was much too overwrought about something to be disturbed. Any excitement, any strain on her already-weakened heart might prove fatal. Since mention of her daughter's name seemed to upset her, it might be several days before she could see her.

"I'll have to stay, Tal," Devona said later that evening when they were back in the Brasher drawing room. "After all—she is my mother. No matter what has happened. And she needs me now."

"Sure. Of course. We'll just postpone things until she's O.K.," Tal said, smiling, taking her hand.

"As it happens, you aren't," Tal came to perch on the arm of her chair. "Gay Dorset—she's the star for this show I'm working on—is arriving from San Francisco in a couple of days. I'm to meet her and go over some of the scenes. We'd have had to come back from Reno, anyway, darling. So—see you see it working out O.K. all around."

Was it? Devona wondered, and involuntarily let her glance slip to Dale's grim face, linger for a moment.

"She's caught it back. Tal's earnest, his renewed self-confidence had been bought at great price. But she smiled up at him now, it was worth it.

Devona went to the hospital every day. But it was nearly a week before they let her see Vara. And when they did, Devona gasped with shock. Not Vara! Not that hollow-cheeked, pallid face against the pillow! It couldn't be.

"You're being awfully odd, aren't you Devona?" Dale smiled at her one afternoon when Tal was too busy with conferences to call for her after visiting hours at the hospital. "After all she didn't take her responsibilities toward you very seriously."

"She's ill now. And needs me. It's not being, noble, Dale," Devona smiled wryly. "It's just being—dutiful."

Dale pressed her hand fiercely. "You're always that, aren't you? What would happen, I wonder, if we didn't either of us have a shred of conscience between us?"

Tears rushed into Devona's eyes again as they'd had a way of doing these past hectic days. Tears she couldn't control. Tears that were always ready to put all the world out of focus.

"Look here. Let's pretend we have no conscience—no right to-night," Dale suggested as if he'd read her thought. "Tal's tied up with this Dorset dame, beauring her around Los Angeles while she makes up her mind if she likes the dialogue he's written for her. And surely there'd be nothing wrong in—say, our having dinner somewhere fancy and treating ourselves to a little dancing. Tal wouldn't care. And after all, we've not much to remember."

There'd be harm, all right. Plenty of it. Every time they were together it was harder to go on with this masquerade. But, Devona couldn't refuse. One last glorious evening with Dale all to herself! She was human, after all!

Devona dressed carefully. One of the pretty little green dinner gowns she'd selected as part of her trousseau. The color made her skin seem gardenia white, her hair blue-black. Slippers to match, a luxurious silver box—Tal's engagement present to her. She stroked the soft fur a little guiltily. This wasn't being exactly fair to Tal, she scolded herself. Not the dinner itself, nor the dancing—but the racing, tremulous thrill she couldn't suppress.

Determinedly, Devona tried to set a keynote of gay friendliness from the moment Dale crossed the Brownstone's lobby to meet her.

"Look at the girl," he grinned, as he slipped her arm through his. "Isn't she gorgeous?"

"Isn't she, though?" Devona laughed back at him. "And her handsome big brother is no slouch himself. Not the dinner itself, nor the dancing—but the racing, tremulous thrill she couldn't suppress."

Dale accepted the keynote, pitched his own rally to match as over cocktails at the Top Hat and then dinner at Victor's they banded wisecracks as lightly as if their hearts were really in it.

"Now—let's go some place to dance," Dale suggested finally. "I crave soft music to soothe this savage soul."

So they went up onto the St. Claire Roof Garden where a muted orchestra played softly under a starlit sky. The warm, balmy night, the soft strains of the music, maybe it was the touch of Dale's arm about her waist, the smoothness of his chin pressed against her forehead—something snapped the frail bond by which she held her emotions in leash. Trembling washed over Devona and she clung to him, desperately, almost frantically.

Instantly responsive, Dale's arm tightened, his head turned until his lips pressed hard against her forehead, his heart thundered response to the clamor her own was setting up.

"Darling," he whispered. "Darling, how can I ever give you up?"

"I don't—know," she whispered, shaken. "I love you so."

"I love you, too, my sweet."

After that, they drifted with the music—as if, for the moment, anyway, they had stepped into another world that held only themselves.

"Darling, we can't go through with this," Dale argued a little later as they stood looking deeply, hungrily into each other's eyes. "It's all a rotten mistake. But there's still time. We could slip over to Yuma. Once it was done—"

To Yuma. To be Dale's bride. To-night, maybe. Details of that picture enlarged in Devona's quick imagination. To belong to him "until death"—forever and ever—Dale's!

That couldn't be. Devona knew that. Her shoulders sagged unconsciously under the burden of her renewed decision. And Dale must have realized it, too, because he said:

"I know. It's no use." And something like a little in his eyes. "Remembering what we'd done to Tal would stand between us the rest of our lives."

Devona nodded. After that, they danced in silence, arms, eyes, clinging hungrily as if this were to be the last look, the last embrace. Like hard-won reprieve from a life sentence to—

Suddenly Dale's eyes fixed on something just beyond her shoulder. He stiffened, and surprise flickered across his face a moment before he covered it with a poised control.

"There's Tal now."

Devona felt her own guilty conscience spread a quick flush to her cheeks. Tal! But—there was nothing to feel guilty about. Not now. Slowly—arming herself with that they'd made the only right decision—she turned to face her betrothed.

Film Has Strange Qualities

New Photographic Material Held Secret For Military Reasons

A secret material developed at Cambridge, Mass., recently makes an entirely new kind of photograph which is formed partly of light rays themselves.

The new photos can do things never done before. Two can be developed on the same piece of film, one on top of the other. Three-dimensional pictures, both stills and movies, are practicable.

This new film is a secret for military reasons. It was developed by Edwin H. Land of the Polaroid Corporation, Cambridge.

The practical possibilities are tremendous. One is to make three-dimensional motion pictures which can be shown without any change in the present equipment of the theatres.

Both pictures are printed superimposed on a single standard film carrying the whole picture, so that any ordinary projector in any movie house can show it.

Furthermore, taking the pictures for this new film is easy and foolproof. It is done with a two-eyed camera, having two lenses about as wide apart as the human eyes. The two take separate pictures, seeing the scene just like a pair of eyes. These photos are developed separately, and then transferred one on top of the other to the new film.

The audience would have to use viewing glasses. But Mr. Land thinks these can be made so cheaply that they can be made part of the movie ticket, in the form of thin films set in cardboard.

A Desecrated Cathedral

Historic Temple In Strasbourg Now Redensons Of Hitler Youth

The Church Times, London, England, has printed in a recent issue the horror of the populace at the correspondence from Alsace showing desecration of Strasbourg Cathedral, an historic temple of the Catholic faith, which has embodied the spirit of Alsace-Lorraine. The correspondent refers to the lack of enthusiasm in the German press, when the "flag with the crooked cross (swastika)" was hoisted on the cathedral, and goes on to describe what has happened since it was "defamed with the cross of blood." It is now a redensons of Hitler Youth, the "figures of the saints that adorned the sanctuary have been replaced by pagan statues, portraits of German leaders and actually a bust of Hitler himself has been enthroned on the high altar, exposed, as formerly was the Holy Sacrament, to the adoration of his disciples." He closes by referring to the brave resistance of the people and quotes one of their sayings in French, which means: "You may Germanize our land but our heart, never!"—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Scrap Iron And Steel

Have To Be Conserved More Especially In War Time

The National Revenue Review says: Scrap is one of the important primary materials of the iron and steel industry. In the manufacture of steel and of iron castings it replaces pig iron ton for ton while in rolling and stamping mills substantial tonnages are re-rolled and re-shaped into a variety of commercial products. More than 1.8 million tons of scrap iron and steel were used in Canadian industry in 1940, this tremendous tonnage assuming special significance in wartime from the standpoint of conservation as well as from the fact that it would require about 3½ million tons of iron ore, most of which must be imported, to supply this amount of new metal.

Scrap is anything of iron and steel that is the waste or by-product of manufacturing or that has been discarded on account of failure, obsolescence or other factors that have rendered it unfit for further use in its present form. It is rails that have been discarded, automobiles that have been scrapped, freight cars and locomotives that have been withdrawn from service, machines that have outlived their usefulness, turnings from machinery operations, waste from stampings, and so on.

A Gentleman Thug

Hitler Sets Great Store By Himmler's Right Hand Man

Reinhard Heydrich, Himmler's right-hand man in charge of Gestapo operations, is one of the handsomest figures in the Nazi hierarchy, says the London correspondent of the Ottawa Journal. He is also, possibly next to his formidable chief, about the most ruthless. Thirty-eight years of age, six-foot tall, blue-eyed, with blond complexion and fair hair, he is the approved "pure Nordic" model. But he has a dark criminal past, and is a thug of the first water. He has been responsible for the shooting of hostages in France, Belgium, and Norway, and has now replaced the too tolerant Baron von Neurath, one-time German ambassador in London, as Gauleiter of Bohemia and Moravia, where strikes and sabotage have caused much trouble to the German overlords.

Those who know him state that never was there a more perfect example of Himmler's comment that "a man may smile and smile and be a villain." He combines a charming manner with completely sadistic tendencies. Hitler sets great store by him, and doubtless he will prove a ruthless executant in his new job.

Sunflowers For Cattle

The London Sunday Express says: Sunflowers are being specially cultivated in Britain for the first time for commercial purposes at Norwich Corporation Farm. For years Continental countries have produced edible oil, paper-making material, cattle-feeding cake, chicken food, salt-petre, potash and dye from sunflower plants.

Tulips For Their Queen

A bunch of withered red and white streaked tulips, smuggled out of Holland by a small band of Netherlands who dared vigilance of German occupation, were presented to Queen Wilhelmina in London.

The Chile Pine

The Chile pine, first discovered in Chile, is considered the grandfather of all pines. It was a thriving tree in the Jurassic Period, millions of years ago.
